Help Wanted

An Unlikely Story in Plainville, MA, is currently looking for upbeat, enthusiastic people for seasonal part-time positions in our café and bookstore. Responsibilities on the cafe side include making espresso drinks, coffee & tea using specialty equipment provided, relaying orders from café to kitchen, running food, bussing café tables, restocking café fridges and shelves. Responsibilities on the bookstore side include stocking books, making recommendations to customers, calling special orders, being knowledgeable about our author event schedule, and maintaining creative displays. For either position, you must love talking to customers and pay attention to the details.

It is important to us not only that we have the right people in the right position but that the baristas and booksellers be able to function seamlessly together and be committed to creating a fun, engaging and friendly environment for our customers and for each other. Ability to work evenings and weekends is a must, with some limited daytime shifts available.

This position requires standing for long hours and the ability to lift/carry 30 pounds. This is for temporary seasonal help and hours may vary. An Unlikely Story is an equal opportunity employer. If interested, please submit a resume to both leo@anunlikelystory.com and emily@anunlikelystory.com.
